Air Force Seeks Recruits for 45-Man 'Buddy Flight'

Sgt. Duane K. Hetler of the USAF Recruiting Office, 1616 Cabrillo Ave., Torrance, announced today that applications are now being accepted from eligible young men in the South Bay Area to form a 45-man "Buddy Flight" to enter the Air Force during June.

"Primarily," stated Hetler, "the purpose of this Buddy Flight is to enable these young men to enlist in the Air Force and enjoy participating in their basic military training with other young men they have known in civilian life."

High School seniors who will graduate this June are encouraged to begin processing for acceptance into this flight, particularly those who have already been administered the airman's qualifying examination at their respective high schools.

To be eligible to make application to join the Buddy Flight, interested applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 27, successfully qualify on a two-hour written aptitude examination, be of good moral character and pass a general physical examination. All of the above stated qualifications must be completed before June 5 if a young man wishes to join this select group. Complete information may be obtained by contacting the AF recruiting office in Torrance, or by calling Hetler at FA 8-1404.

Torrance Girl Places High

Accounting students at Washington State University again have scored high in examinations given by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

This year, according to Joseph R. Tarbet, associate professor of business administration, six WSU students were in the top 10 percent of all those tested. Among the top one percent was Janice L. Bishop of Torrance.

This examination, conducted each year, involved nearly 2000 students from about 80 schools, and WSU has ranked well up in the standings annually.

As a group, the 21 WSU seniors tested scored well enough to place WSU with the schools in the top 10 percent.

Tragic Scene Experienced On TV by North High Girl

It's twelve midnight. An eighteen year old girl is admitted into General Hospital for treatment of deep facial cuts.

Her boyfriend is charged with drunken and reckless driving.

His innocence rests on her testimony in court, backing up his story. But what will an emotionally disturbed girl do when scars remind her of her boyfriend's recklessness?

North High student Pam Nelson, daughter of Mrs. Alva Wilson, 17022 Kornblum, Torrance, lives the ordeal through her dramatic interpretation of Angie in the new television series, "General Hospital," on the ABC television network.

This is Pam's first major part in television work, having only previous work in commercials. Lynn Rosen, her agent set up the interview for Pam. Two weeks later she received a phone call telling her she had been chosen for the part.

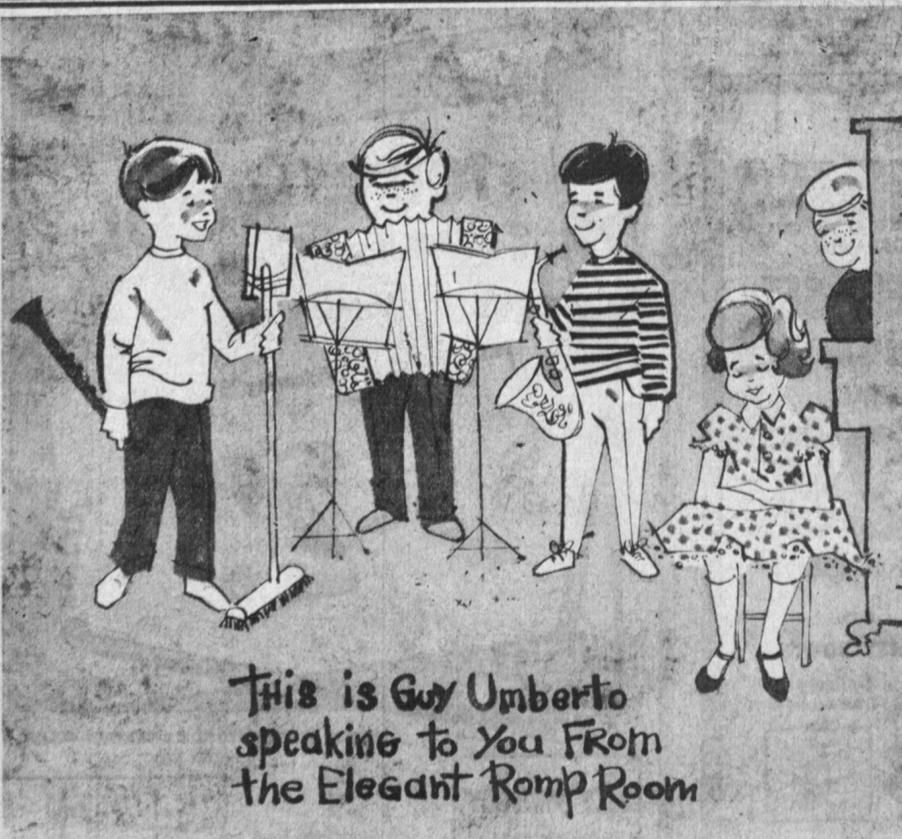

"We began shooting the fifteen half-hour episodes in December after being screened for the role two weeks earlier," Pam stated. "It was real exciting and came so fast, but it was a lot of hard work." Filming took place twice a week from 8 a.m. till 6 p.m. Pam kept up with her regular school work in between scenes and during breaks. Altogether she had lessons half the day in all her regular subjects.

Her father, Robert Nelson, has been in show business for about twenty years and got Pam her first job doing a television commercial. She hopes for more parts and feels her present show will help. "I want to go to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London after high school," she commented, but feels if she does good now, she won't have to.

This has been her big step up from high school plays. Last year while attending Ambassador High School in Torrance, she appeared in the two plays, Dear Ruth and A Date With Judy. She is presently enrolled in Drama III at North High. Besides acting, Pam also practices her singing and dancing. She hopes to cut a record in the near future.
